General Service Letter No. 2549/07

Subject: All engines.
Formalization of Electronic Documentation.

Bordes, August 9, 2007

Dear Sir or Madam,

As part of our continuous improvement policy and in response to our operators' requests, TURBOMECA is expanding the official scope of our Technical Documentation.

All Technical Documentation issued in electronic format, including the Documentation published on the T.O.O.L.S. website, can now officially be used in exactly the same way as the equivalent paper versions.

Technical Documentation on CD-ROMs is issued a maximum of 15 days after the corresponding paper version.

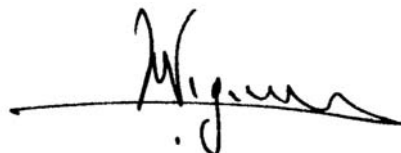

Temporary Updates or Temporary Revisions will continue to be issued on T.O.O.L.S. and in paper format.

Operators who wish to continue receiving paper documentation must keep their publications current by continuing to insert where appropriate, all Normal and Temporary revisions issued by TURBOMECA.

To avoid any possible errors, it is essential to destroy all technical documentation that has not been kept up to date - whether it be paper format or CD-ROM.

Please contact us if you require further information or assistance.

Yours faithfully,

J-S. VIGNES
